CONSULTING

1. Introduction

Our brand comprises more than just our logo.

180 Degrees Consulting (180DC) is one of the most recognised non-profit, social impact consultancies in the world. The brand itself represents our organisation and our community, whether it be visually or in the tone we use in our communications channels, and influences how our stakeholders perceive us. Our brand aims to attract students, clients, and industry partners in helping us further our cause of creating meaningful impact.

You play an important role in emanating our unique brand identity.

As members of 180DC, we all have a part to play in creating and maintaining our brand experience. From individual consultants, to branch executives, to members of the Global Leadership Team (GLT), you play an essential role in advocating for the brand and portraying 180DC to the outside world. These Brand Guidelines help us ensure we build on our brand image and legacy together through a consistent and unified application of our brand, ultimately maintaining our brand safety.

Consistency is key to a strong brand image.

All branch and GLT communications should be coherent and aligned to 180DC's brand. Brand consistency is one of the most effective ways of creating a strong brand and of forging strong connections with our external stakeholders and internal 180DC community.

Our Brand.

2.1 Brand Story

180 Degrees Consulting is the world's largest non-profit consultancy aiming to improve effectiveness of non-profits and social enterprises around the world.

We take our name from our mission – which is to help organizations transform.

180 Degrees Consulting was founded by Nat Ware in September 2007 in Sydney, Australia. Nat had previously undertaken charitable work in Mozambique, and it was this work that made him realize that,

“in the game of social impact,
method trumps money.”

He realized that the effectiveness of funds is even more important than the level of funds, yet most non-profit organizations and social enterprises do not have access to affordable, high-quality consulting services.

At the same time, Nat realized that talented university students have more to offer than simply collecting money or raising awareness. They had the ability to "donate with one's mind", using their own skills and knowledge to aid in the creation of social impact within society.

This is where our mutually beneficial structure comes into play.

We're able to offer very high-quality consulting services without the usual price tag because our consultants are carefully selected top university students who volunteer their valuable combination of expertise, creativity, and problem-solving abilities.

In turn, our consultants receive training, experience, and unique opportunities to hone their consulting skills with real organizations while still at university.

Today, 180 Degrees Consulting operates from over 35 countries, with branches located in more than 175 leading universities around the globe.

2.2 Brand Purpose

At 180 Degrees Consulting, our mission is to help organizations to transform.

We provide socially conscious organizations around the world with very high quality and extremely affordable consulting services.

Our consultants work with organizations to develop innovative, practical and sustainable solutions to whatever challenges they're facing.

2.3 Our Values

1. Method trumps money.
2. Prioritizing innovative, practical and sustainable solutions.
3. Turning ideas into reality.
4. Turning challenges into opportunities.
5. Focus on positive transformation.

Why are we called 180 Degrees?
It's because we work to turn good organizations into great organizations, challenges into opportunities, ideas into reality. We're focused on positive transformation.
Transforming organizations,
and - in turn - transforming lives.

2.4 Brand Personality

Personable

As one of the world's leading non-profit consultancies, we conduct ourselves in an approachable manner towards students, organizations, and industry representatives alike. This involves maintaining our professionalism while demonstrating warmth in the community we belong in and work for.

Innovative

Through our consulting services, we bring a can-do attitude when faced with adversities in our projects. In a branch or international capacity, we communicate endless opportunities for students to grow, which translates to high-quality solutions for organizations to broaden their impact.

Whether it be on a branch or global level, our work is only possible through the team members, client organizations and partners we collaborate with. Only when multiple minds come together are innovative solutions created.

Authentic

At 180DC, we bring our authentic selves into the work and development we undertake. What makes our organisation unique is the people that decide to become a part of our community. Everyone is here because they truly want to be here and conduct impactful work on a community and global level. The passion we have for contributing to a better world is what makes us genuine.

Global

With over 175+ branches internationally, 180DC is undoubtedly a global organization. This is a testament to the extent of our impact, but also the endless opportunities for global collaboration.

We encourage branches from different parts of the globe to be one another's inspiration and support.

The teams we work in or collaborate with shape not only the results of our work, but also our personal development. We are an organization that believes in knowledge-sharing for better outcomes.

2.5 Our Audience

180DC communications collateral targets three key audiences:

1: Client Organizations

Our clients predominantly consist of not-for-profit organizations and social enterprises. The GLT sources projects with clients, providing 180DC Consultants with the opportunity to provide valuable time and resources to the organizations for reduced cost while gaining experience.

2: Students/Consultants

At 180DC, what makes our organization unique is the people in our branch community. Our student consultants are here because they truly want to be involved in working towards 180DC's mission. We are always on the lookout for other students to join our branches around the globe and contribute their passion for creating a better world.

3: Industry Partners

Our industry partners are typically comprised of for-profit consultancies. These organizations provide mentoring and training opportunities for our 180DC Consultants and Team Leaders. They are acquired via the efforts of the individual 180DC branches. However, the GLT may provide assistance and guidance as required when it comes to Industry Partner acquisition.

Promotional materials tend to involve partner packs that highlight 180DC's value proposition for such companies and social posts highlighting their support. Typical value we provide back to industry partners is the concentrated talent pool made up of our consultants.

Brand Elements.

180Degrees

180Degrees

3.1 Logos

Our Masterbrand Logo makes up the core of our overarching brand family. This specific version of our brand is predominantly for use by the GLT in materials such as:

- Marketing materials & social media
- External and internal documents (e.g. client and volunteer contracts, certificates)
- Project collateral (e.g. reports, slide decks)

Logo Variations

Our Masterbrand Logo comes in the following color variations for use in a range of designs. To maintain consistency across the brand, only these variations should be used:

180Degrees
CONSULTING

Stacked Logo Full Color

180Degrees

Stacked Logo 3 Color

Stacked Full Color, 3 Color, and Mono variations should only be used on plain light backgrounds.

Stacked Logo Inverted

180Degrees

Stacked Logo Mono

Stacked Inverted variations should only be used on plain dark backgrounds.

The logo should only be placed over an image where the image is not distracting to the brand.

Each of our Masterbrand logo color variations also come in a Horizontal Logo format, shown below:

180Degrees
CONSULTING

Horizontal Logo Full Colour

Each variation of our Masterbrand Logo also comes in the following file formats and each should be utilized for different reasons:

PNG - Portable Network Graphic

A png logo file will have a transparent background. They are best used for the 180DC website or social media posts. They can be opened with most computer software or in a web browser.

JPEG - Joint Photographic Experts Group

A jpg or jpeg logo file is best used for web or print. These files are best used for photographs. A jpg file does not support transparent backgrounds.

AI – Adobe Illustrator

An ai logo file is vector-based and created in Adobe Illustrator. Our Communications Team can use this file to create and edit the 180DC logo without reducing the file quality. They are commonly called the “working file”, “source file”, or “master file”.

EPS – Encapsulated PostScript

An eps is also a vector-based file and is best for print usage. It can be sized up or down without impacting the quality. These files have a transparent background and are easily scalable for print in a range of sizes.

NOTE: If you send the 180DC logo to a printer or design professional, always send them the ai or eps version unless another format is specifically requested. They can export this file into another file format if needed.

180Degrees

180DC Branded House

Our 180DC branches sit within our Branded House. This means they share a name with our Masterbrand and are subordinate to it.

The branch brand logo is the main brand that is to be used by individual 180DC branches. It is an extension of the Masterbrand Logo and is used to identify respective branches from one another. Similar to the Masterbrand Logo, branches are to use the branch brand in materials such as:

- Marketing
- Documents (e.g. client and volunteer contracts, certificates, letter of commendation)
- Client project collateral (e.g. reports, slide decks)
- Events
- Banners

It is imperative that all 180DC branch brands adhere to the Brand Guidelines laid out in this document within their creative collateral, including tone, font, and color stylings, to maintain the global appearance of the 180DC brand.

Branded House/Branch Logo Example:

Branch Stacked Logo Full Color

Branch Horizontal Logo Full Color

Note: The branch brand only serves as an example. The text in green should be the name of your respective branch.

Both versions of the branch brand should be supplied by a member of the Communications team from the GLT in all formats listed on pg. 13.

Branches are prohibited from making their own.

Branches can request their logos by emailing marketing@180dc.org.

Logo Placement & Usage

When deciding where to place the 180DC logo on your collateral, you need to consider what will make the most sense to your audience. If the identity of 180DC is what draws the audience in, then it makes sense to place the logo in the top left or right corner of the page.

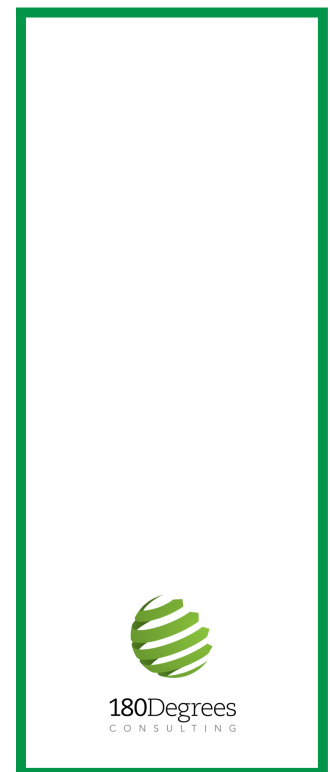

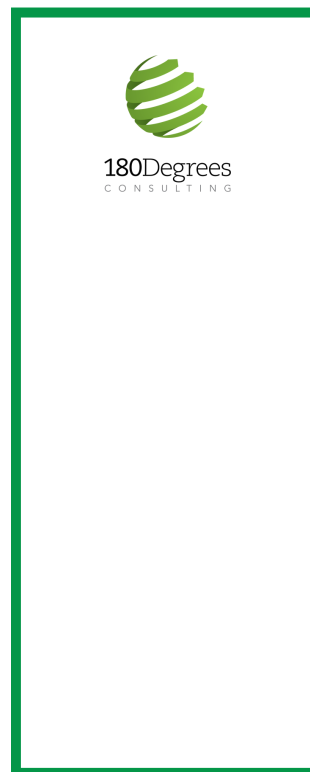

If the information itself is the drawcard for your audience, it would make more sense to place the 180DC logo in a bottom corner of the piece, where it acts more as a “presented by” sign-off. For example: if you are presenting a slide deck to a client, the focus is on the recommendations rather than the fact that 180DC produced it.

Make sure that the 180DC logo is visible enough for your audience to discern and that it is not so small that it is hard to see.

Ensure that other design elements do not encroach on the space around the 180DC logo. This clearance maintains the legibility and clarity of the mark and establishes its importance in the communication hierarchy.

The primary placement for the 180DC logo is in the righthand or lefthand top and bottom corners (whichever best suits your design). Should you be partnering with another organization, their logo should either be slightly smaller or at most the same size as your 180DC logo.

If you encounter dimensions that are long and narrow, you always have the option of centering the logo either on the top or bottom.

180Degrees
CONSULTING

What Not To Do

Never have the 180DC 'globe' on any collateral in place of the Masterbrand or branch logo. The 'globe' can be used on its own as a design element. However, your branch brand should always be seen within the collateral.

Do not use special production techniques such as metallic inks, foil stamping, or shadows on the 180DC brand/branch brand in digital or printed collateral. Do not add extra elements to the logo.

Do not distort the colours of the Masterbrand or branch brand. Should you be using the globe as a design element, it can be re-coloured into B/W shades only. See section 3.2 for more details.

Do not distort the logo (stretching, skewing, compressing, etc.)

Key Takeaways

- Leave the 180DC branding as it is outlined in these guidelines.
- Do not tamper with the branding logo.

Design Tips

To ensure the logo does not distort when adjusting size, press:

- the "shift" key when resizing on Microsoft/Google applications
- "ctrl + shift" keys on Adobe software
- press and hold the top/bottom left/right hand corners on Canva

The Masterbrand Logo Suite can be downloaded for use from the Resources Hub (pg. 40).

3.2 Secondary Marks & Symbols

To aid in design of physical and digital marketing materials, external and internal documents (e.g. client and volunteer contracts, certificates), and project collateral (e.g. reports, slide decks), the 180DC brand incorporates a selection of design marks and symbols. These are outlined below:

Text Divider

The text divider is used to visually separate text elements, most commonly between a document heading and its opening paragraph. It provides a distinct layer of hierarchy within the information that is being communicated.

180DC 'Globe'

The 180DC 'globe' element can be utilized on its own as a design element throughout social media, document design, and other collateral (e.g. slides). It is available in the brand green or in mono black and grey. However, the 'globe' does not replace the 180DC logo. The Masterbrand or branch logo should always be seen within the collateral.

Black and grey 'globe'

Brand green 'globe'

180DC 'Swish'

The 180DC 'swish' element can be utilized throughout social media, document design, and other collateral (e.g. slides). Use of the 'swish' is fairly liberal and can be paired with other design elements to add dimension.

'Swish' is used around the Masterbrand logo on the 180 Degrees Consulting Instagram profile image

'Swish' is used to add emphasis and design consistency around an illustration in this document (pg. 7)

The 180DC 'globe' and 'swish' files can be downloaded for use from Resources Hub (pg. 40).

3.3 Typography

There are four approved typefaces which are designated for use with the 180DC brand according to the kind of media you are working with:

Official Brand Fonts

For use within:

- Official 180DC documents and collateral from the GLT created using Canva or Adobe Creative Cloud programs.
- Social media posts by both GLT and branches.

Glacial Indifference Bold/Avenir LT Std fonts are to be used for headings and Glacial Indifference Regular/Lato fonts for body text.

Download 180DC's Official Brand Fonts via the Resources Hub (pg. 40) or email the Global Communications team at marketing@180dc.org.

Web & Document Fonts

For use within:

- Internal and external documents created within Microsoft Office programs (e.g. PowerPoint) to be shared as the same file (and not as a PDF) with external stakeholders or branches.
- Google Suite applications (e.g. Google Slides, Google Docs).
- For collateral by any branches who cannot access the Avenir or Lato fonts. However, social media must always use the Official Brand Fonts, which can be accessed in Canva.

Helvetica family fonts are to be used for headings and Arial family fonts for body text.

Helvetica family fonts
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
1234567890

Arial family fonts
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
1234567890

NOTE: 'family' refers to the set of fonts that share a common design, but are different in style (light, normal, bold, semi-bold, etc.)

Typography Example

The way type is used in this visual yet informative document is modern and professional, while maintaining openness, which fits with the organization's brand behaviour.

It prioritises legibility of key facts with a bold headline in Avenir Lt Std, and larger text size in Lato within the body section to direct attention towards key metrics that have been achieved in 2021.

Any other additional information is provided in pure Lato, which does not distract from the key facts in this page. This example is an appropriate look for the different types of 180DC audiences that we have identified in previous pages.

2021: A YEAR IN REVIEW

180 Degrees Consulting is an organisation that is expanding its impact year-on-year but our dual mission has remained unchanged for the last decade. We seek to improve the effectiveness of social sector organisations and develop impact-focused student leaders. Our presence on social media has enabled us to build our brand through curating content that has got over 750k impressions, and over 56k followers last year. On LinkedIn, we gained a massive 46% increase in following in 2021 than in the previous years combined.

CLIENT IMPACT

With the ongoing impact of COVID-19, 2021 was a year of unprecedented challenges for the organizations that 180 Degrees Consulting served - both in terms of operational challenges and the evolving needs of the communities that the organizations serve. In response to this, 180DC in 2021, supported:

- A record 700+ clients, and delivered 750+ projects, having volunteered for 840,000+ working hours

Each project that we deliver makes a lasting impact for our clients in reaching their full potential. Our framework to quantify the value of our impact includes the inputs, outputs and outcomes of our work. Through the dedication of our consultants, over the last year we delivered:

- A record value of consulting services worth AUD 26.9M+

STUDENT IMPACT

Alongside the social impact that we unlocked for our clients, 2021 also saw an unprecedented increase in the number of students engaging in the delivery of our work.

University students from the 180DC branch network worldwide get real work experience, professional training, first-hand exposure to non-profits and social enterprises, leadership development, and the opportunity to build numerous transferable skills, all whilst making a difference.

Most importantly, being engaged in our community, encourages and empowers our consultants to stay committed to social causes, while collaborating with people from across the world, having a shared vision!

- Supported 7,000+ students in 2021, including 1,200+ branch executives driving the mission forward

3.4 Brand Colors

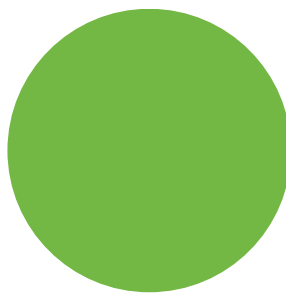

Color is one of the most crucial elements in creating rapid recognition of our 180DC brand. That is why ensuring that all collateral, from briefing documents to social media posts, utilize the correct 180DC brand color pallet.

Color Palette

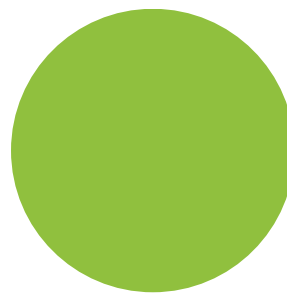

180DC's Official Brand Colors are:

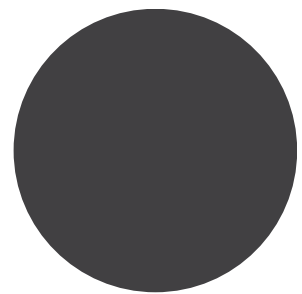

Lime Green
#049648
R4 G150 B72
C97 M0 Y52 K41

Moderate Green
#73B744
R115 G183 B68
C37 M0 Y63 K28

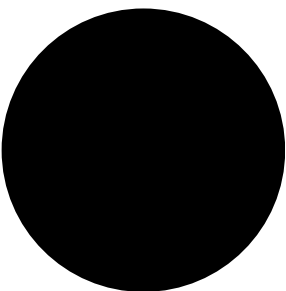

Light Green
#90C03E
R144 G192 B62
C25 M0 Y68 K25

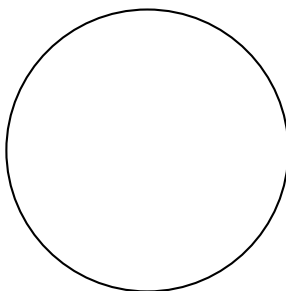

Dark Grey
#414042
R65 G64 B66
C2 M3 Y0 K74

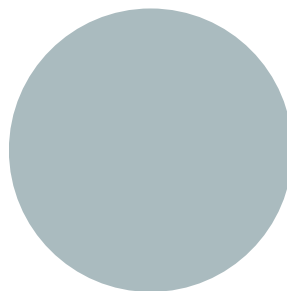

180DC's Extended Color Palette is:

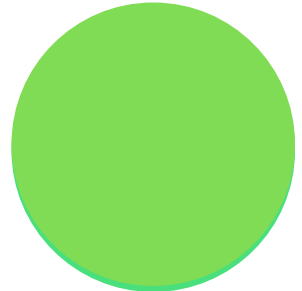

Black
#000000
R0 G0 B0
C0 M0 Y0 K100

White
#FFFFFF
R255 G255 B255
C0 M0 Y0 K0

Light Grey
#AABBBF
R170 G187 B191
C11 M2 Y0 K25

Bright Green
#80DC54
R127 G220 B84
C42 M0 Y62 K14

When utilizing 180DC official and extended brand colors within your graphic design, ensure that colors are always legible when applied on top of images and that high contrast colours (i.e. light green on dark grey/black or lime green on white) are utilized to aid in accessibility and general brand consistency,

Color Ratios

50% ratio.

Moderate green should dominate any graphic design (apart from some white-page documents i.e. booklets or slides).

40% ratio.

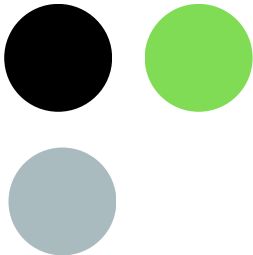

Our dark grey or white should comprise just under half of any graphic design.

Dark grey can be used in place of white on document backgrounds (see pg. 22 for an example).

5% ratio.

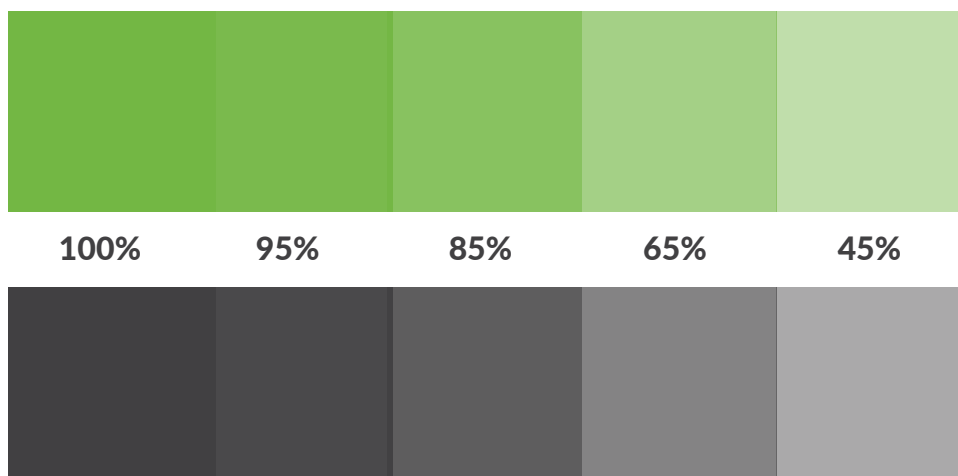

Our lime green or light green should only be used minimally within any graphic design, mainly as an accent colour or for differentiating text.

Only a splash of our other extended color palette tones should be utilised through any graphic design material. These colors should mainly be used in more visually creative applications, such as social media.

Color Gradients

Gradients of our 180DC official brand colors can be utilized within graphic design. Examples of approved transparencies are below. Do not create a gradient below a 45% transparency.

Supporting Elements.

180Degrees
CONSULTING

4.1 Photography

Overall, common sense should dictate the use of photography and stock photographs within 180DC communications collateral when it comes to appropriateness and colors.

Key principles are outlined below:

1. When the 180DC logo is placed over an image, ensure it is clear and unobstructed by contrasting colors. If needed, add an opaque or gradient element behind it to ensure that it is clearly viewable within the photo:

Logo text is not clearly readable because of dark image coloring, while the busy lines in the image interfere with clarity of the globe.

Logo is clear and readable on the light background of the sky.

The addition of the white gradient allows the logo to be clear and readable.

2. Photographs must always respect copyright and intellectual property. For example, when utilizing stock imagery, ensure it is from an ethical source (i.e. 180DC Canva pro account, free stock imagery sites such as Unsplash or Pexels, or purchased stock images).

3. Photographs lifted from branch, sponsor, partner, or client social media/websites/assorted digital media must be clearly and accurately credited within 180DC printed, digital, and social media collateral (e.g. via social media tag).

4. Imagery used in printed collateral (i.e. documents, posters, merchandise) must be high resolution images. Specifically, these images must be a minimum of 300dpi.

5. Imagery used on social media or websites must be between 72dpi to 300dpi.

4.2 Illustrations

180DC have a set of approved illustrations for use within all GLT and branch branding collateral, including document design, slide/pitch decks, and social media, etc.

These illustrations are available to us via our Canva Pro subscription and must be copied/downloaded for each new use, as per the Canva Content License Agreement.

Examples of these illustrations are used throughout this document and additional illustration examples are below:

Common sense should dictate the use of illustrations within designs in regards to fittingness, placement, and color contrasts.

Do not place the 180DC logo over or under an illustration.

The 180DC 'swish' element can be used to compliment illustrations within designs, as per the example given on pg 19.

Illustration Library can be downloaded for use from the Resources Hub (pg. 40).

Illustration credit: Visual Generation
(@vigeo) via Canva.com

4.3 Icons

180DC have a set of approved icons for use within all GLT and branch branding collateral, including document slide/pitch decks via the 180DC Icon Library resource.

Icons should only be utilized within the 180DC Official Brand Colors or Extended Color Palette.

If you would prefer icons in additional colors, first consider using other design features, such as illustrations, gradients, photography, or the 'swish' element to add color.

If alternative icon colours are required please contact E: marketing@180dc.org and outline which icons you require color edited and the reason why.

Icons should never be used in colors outside the official 180DC brand colours or extended color palette.

Common sense should dictate the use of icons within slides in regards to fittingness, and placement, and color contrasts.

Icons can be downloaded for use from the Resources Hub (pg. 40).

Tone Guide.

180Degrees
CONSULTING

5.1 Tone Definitions

The Official 180DC Tone Guide reflects our overall 180DC Brand Personality and Values. All language should be contemporary and energetic, while also knowledgeable and professional.

5.2 Spelling Variations

180DC utilizes both American/British English spelling within all official GLT Communications collateral, including documents, social media, and email marketing.

Spelling preferences between branches within the English language can be dictated by preference and culture (i.e. UK/Australian English), as long as it is correct professional English usage.

NOTE: A general breakdown of difference in UK and American English spelling can be sourced here.

5.3 Terminology

180DC has a range of words and phrases which align with our branding and mission, while others do not. These are outlined below:

Words & phrases we like

- Non-profit
- Student-led
- University-based consultancy
- 180DC, 180 Degrees, or 180 Degrees Consulting
- Consulting Cycle
- 180 Degrees Consultants
- Branches
- Social impact consultancy
- "Selected as a 180 Degrees Consultant"
- "Apply to be a 180 Degrees Consultant"
- Low-cost Consulting Services
- Affordable Consulting Services

Words & phrases we don't like

- Pro-bono
- NGO
- Charity
- Student consultancy
- "Selected for a 180 Degrees project"
- "Apply to join 180 Degrees"
- Chapters, Offices, Clubs, Societies
- 180 or 180Degrees

6.1 Creative Usage

Overall, common sense should dictate the creation of GLT and branch social media content. Branches are welcome to display their individual branch personalities, but must not deviate from the brand specifics outlined in these Brand Guidelines. Use of the illustrations and icons specified in these brand guidelines are encouraged.

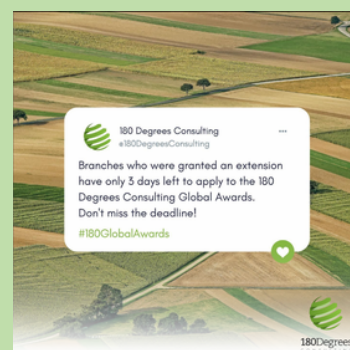

Examples

This graphic celebrates a World Day that aligns with 180DC's brand values while also keeping to brand color and imagery guidelines.

This Holiday graphic celebrates a holiday and utilizes event-specific imagery without sacrificing 180DC branding guidelines.

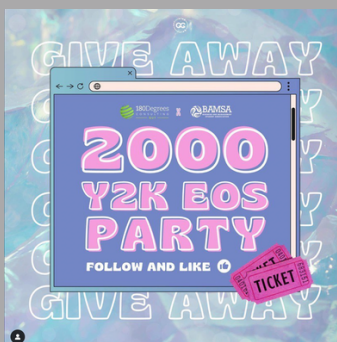

This hybrid imagery and graphic communicates a 180DC message while keeping within 180DC brand guidelines and color schemes.

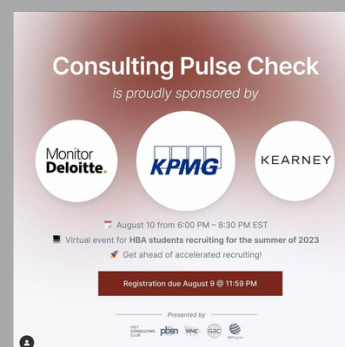

What not to do

Do not use colors in graphics that are entirely beyond brand guidelines or fonts that are not Avenir or Lato within social media graphics when branding fonts could be used instead.

Do not sacrifice 180DC branding guidelines to create a 'theme'. This graphic should utilize predominantly 180DC colors and fonts. Some variation is allowed (i.e. the background 'Give Away' font to capture the Y2K design), but not to the extent that the 180DC brand is eliminated such as in this example.

Do not use colors in graphics that are entirely beyond brand guidelines. When using partner/sponsor logos, the 180DC logo should be of the same or larger size than any other logo present. Do not sacrifice 180DC branding for partner/sponsor/or client branding on social media.

Canva.

180Degrees

7.1 Canva Pro Usage Guidelines

180DC maintain a Canva Pro subscription which allows GLT and branch members access to a wide range of streamlined and easy to use marketing and design tools.

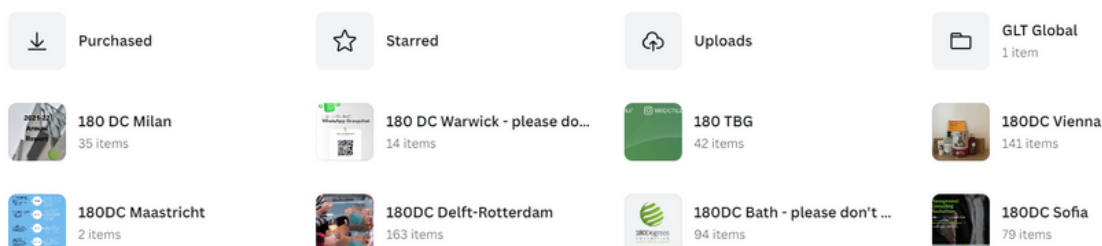

All GLT members and branches are welcome to use the Canva Pro subscription for 180DC-related collateral only. Use of the 180DC Canva Pro account for activity unrelated to our organization is prohibited. The account will be monitored.

We use Folders to organize all collateral created in our Canva Pro account. The GLT and each branch have their own Folder to function within.

All branch collateral (including logos etc.) must be saved in their relevant, clearly labelled branch Folder. All GLT-related collateral must be saved in the GLT Communications Folder. See 7.2 for more information.

7.3 Canva Branding Kit

180DC's approved branding kit is pre-uploaded into Canva Pro for all GLT and branch usage within their social media and document collateral. Brand fonts (Avenir & Lato) are also uploaded and must be used by all branches and the GLT within the creation of social media content.

Do not create individual branch Brand Kits within Canva without approval from the GLT Communications Team. Canva Brand Kits will be monitored and those which are not aligned with the 180DC Brand Guidelines will be removed.

If alternative Brand Kits are required please contact E: marketing@180dc.org and outline your reasons for requiring an alternative Brand Kit.
